FEEDBACK

Trainers Feedback

The students displayed a commendable level of enthusiasm and eagerness to learn, which is a valuable soft skill. They demonstrated a good understanding of most concepts and actively applied them, indicating strong problem-solving and application skills. However, there is room for improvement in their English language proficiency, particularly in group communication settings.

Although hesitant in group discussions, their ability to express themselves individually highlights effective communication skills. Their keen interest in seeking clarification on various topics, including group discussions and resume building, reflects a proactive attitude towards learning and adaptability, both crucial soft skills.

Their average comprehension level suggests opportunities for growth, particularly in attention to detail. Providing guidance and monitoring their progress in verbal ability practice questions can help enhance their overall soft skills, including communication, teamwork, and attention to detail. Overall, their positive attitude towards learning and willingness to improve are promising indicators of their potential development in soft skills.

Trainers Feedback

The students displayed a commendable level of enthusiasm and eagerness to learn, which is a valuable soft skill. They demonstrated a good understanding of most concepts and actively applied them, indicating strong problem-solving and application skills. However, there is room for improvement in their English language proficiency, particularly in group communication settings.

Although hesitant in group discussions, their ability to express themselves individually highlights effective communication skills. Their keen interest in seeking clarification on various topics, including group discussions and resume building, reflects a proactive attitude towards learning and adaptability, both crucial soft skills.

Their average comprehension level suggests opportunities for growth, particularly in attention to detail. Providing guidance and monitoring their progress in verbal ability practice questions can help enhance their overall soft skills, including communication, teamwork, and attention to detail. Overall, their positive attitude towards learning and willingness to improve are promising indicators of their potential development in soft skills.

Trainers Feedback

The students displayed a commendable level of enthusiasm and eagerness to learn, which is a valuable soft skill. They demonstrated a good understanding of most concepts and actively applied them, indicating strong problem-solving and application skills. However, there is room for improvement in their English language proficiency, particularly in group communication settings.

Although hesitant in group discussions, their ability to express themselves individually highlights effective communication skills. Their keen interest in seeking clarification on various topics, including group discussions and resume building, reflects a proactive attitude towards learning and adaptability, both crucial soft skills.

Their average comprehension level suggests opportunities for growth, particularly in attention to detail. Providing guidance and monitoring their progress in verbal ability practice questions can help enhance their overall soft skills, including communication, teamwork, and attention to detail. Overall, their positive attitude towards learning and willingness to improve are promising indicators of their potential development in soft skills.

Trainers Feedback

The students demonstrated high levels of enthusiasm and eagerness to learn. They grasped most of the concepts and made efforts to apply them. However, there is room for improvement in their English language skills. Although they are hesitant to speak in group settings, they are able to express themselves when asked questions individually.

They exhibit a strong interest in learning and actively seek clarification on topics such as group discussions and resume building. Their English communication skills need enhancement. Overall, their comprehension is considered average, and they need to work on improving their attention span.

To facilitate their improvement, it is recommended to closely monitor and guide the students to consistently engage in verbal ability practice exercises.
